Subject: IRA and Options

I am a retired teacher. I trade options to supplement my pension. Prohibiting an individual citizen from making simple options trades such as covered calls is government intrusion into private affairs. I am capable of managing my own investments and want the government to STAY OUT!

More than ever, the retail investor has access to education and resources that enable wise and intuitive choices. I am responsible for my money. I will make or lose it on my own.

Why don't you try managing your own affairs – you guys can't even balance a budget – so stay out of my life.
